

AIYANYO AIBANGBEE

ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT,
COMMUNICATIONS

 Aiyanyo.Aibangbee@BPI.com

Aiyanyo “Yany” Aibangbee is the Assistant Vice President, Communications, for the Bank Policy Institute. In this role, he is responsible for web content, graphic design, and creative direction.

Before joining BPI, Mr. Aibangbee was a Consultant at the Council of Chief State School Officers, where he developed and launched various digital campaigns. He served as a Digital Consultant at Infectious Diseases Society of America, where he directed and produced digital campaigns through creative direction. He was Senior Manager, Digital Content at the American Diabetes Association, where he developed and launched various digital marketing efforts, campaigns, digital content, and creative work. Mr. Aibangbee was a lecturer at Howard University, where he taught desktop web-publishing. He has worked with various organizations and partners such as the National Wildlife Federation, U.S. Department of Energy, Colgate, National Football League, etc., where he created digital marketing, graphic design, and creative campaigns.

Mr. Aibangbee has a Bachelor of Science in Architecture Design plus a Master of Fine Arts in Electronic Studio from Howard University. He has a Leadership Mentoring award from the U.S. Department of Energy, Presidential Outstanding Award from Howard University, and a Kauffman Campus Design Award.