Ed Hill is Senior Vice President and Head of Government Affairs for the Bank Policy Institute. In that role, he helps to lead BPI's federal advocacy efforts on member company priorities, including those in the areas of capital and liquidity, consumer banking, technology, and national security.

Prior to joining BPI, Mr. Hill spent nearly two decades with Bank of America representing the bank before federal policy makers on issues including capital markets reforms, investment research, and retail banking. He also worked for the National Governors Association, the Financial Services Roundtable, and Ernst & Young, LLP in their Bank Regulatory and Risk Management Practice.

Mr. Hill holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from Emory University, a Master of Public Policy from Georgetown University and a Master of Science in Finance from George Washington University.
