

YASMEEN ABDUL-RASEQ

ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT, RESEARCH ANALYST

 Yasmeen.Abdul-Raseq@BPI.com

Yasmeen Abdul-Razeq is an Assistant Vice President and Research Analyst for the Bank Policy Institute. Her responsibilities include contributing to economic research on banking policy and regulation. Prior to joining BPI, Ms. Abdul-Razeq was a research assistant at the Economic Policy Institute and the Aresty Research Center, where she worked on bridging the gap between labor economics and labor laws. She also served as a Political Affairs Intern at The Borgen Project, where she received both the Chief Closer Award and the President’s Circle Award.

Ms. Abdul-Razeq holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from Rutgers University, where she earned certificates in both Quantitative Economics and Public Policy Economics.